

ELECTRONIC RECYCLING

Electronics such as computers and accessories, printers, fax machines, VCR and DVD players, TVs, and cell phones are now banned from landfills in Wisconsin under the statewide E-Cycle Wisconsin program.

The law is based on a product stewardship approach, which assigns primary responsibility for collection and recycling to the manufacturer and assures that recyclers are following environmental and health and safety regulations.

Beginning December 3, the residential drop off center at Veolia Emerald Park Landfill will accept electronics covered under the law. Look for the specially marked containers or ask the site attendant.
